Buying a Bunny a Little Time
Fostering for the House Rabbit Society

Ed. Note — The Sacramento HRS rescues and adopts out approximately 40 rabbits a year from local shelters. However, there are many more rabbits we cannot save due to the limited number of foster homes. We would like to add more foster homes to our program by reaching out to our regular readership – people who already know and understand house rabbits. If you have the space in your home and a few hours a week to interact with a rabbit who is in need of a second chance, please consider becoming a fosterer.

Since HRS was founded in 1988, more than 7,000 rabbits have been rescued throughout our foster homes across the United States. For an unwanted rabbit, the best chance of survival is to enter an HRS foster program. Foster homes enable the rabbit to get out in the public eye (via the HRS newsletter, web site and adoption events) instead of spending seven days a week at the shelter. But even more critically, the foster program buys the rabbit time. Because of the crowded conditions at most shelters, an animal has to be adopted quickly or be euthanized. This is unfortunate for rabbits because they don’t “sell” themselves in a shelter kennel, and it takes much more time for their personalities to show. Foster homes, on the other hand, have no time limit. Our foster pairs usually take at least a month to get acquainted with these rabbits from unknown backgrounds – they become the rabbit’s guardian, advocate and friend.

Becoming a fosterer is a relatively simple process. Once you are approved by the chapter and have set up your foster bunny’s living area at your home (see related sidebar), you’re ready to get your foster bunny. If you are a first-time fosterer, a current HRS fosterer will accompany you to the shelter to pick out a bunny (shelter staff will need to know you’re an HRS representative, and it gives you a chance to ask questions of another fosterer.) Once the rabbit arrives home with you, you will be surprised at how much he relaxes. A small few will be naturally friendly and, as soon as they are...
Begin this socialization process with gentle petting from the top of the head, or you might try putting your head down close to the bunny in the cage. A person’s nose sometimes seems to be less intrusive to a caged rabbit than fingers. When you and the bunny are nose-to-nose, you can just “hang out” or talk softly to him.

After that first weeklong adjustment period, as he begins to run around, you will be able to observe his characteristics. You will need to experiment with lifting and handling. They all have sensitive areas. Find out, through firm but gentle experimenting, what he likes and doesn’t like, where to pet him, and what annoys him. Learning all these traits will make it easier for you to make a good match with an adopting family.

Some bunnies need more socializing than others. One advantage of fostering both not-yet-adoptable and adoptable rabbits is that the unsocialized ones get used to strangers who come to meet the other rabbits. Rabbits are often mislabeled at the shelter, so through fostering, you will become the best judge of the rabbit’s sociability. What is considered a “hard to place” animal can be viewed entirely differently by a person who appreciates a bold or willful bunny or has sympathy for a timid one.

After you know your foster rabbit, you can describe him in appealing but honest ways to people who show interest in him. Many first-time adopters are looking for particular physical characteristics, and chances are that your bunny won’t be exactly what the person has in mind. Unless there’s a very strong preference, you may be able to generate interest in him by telling the prospective adopter about all your rabbit’s wonderful traits and quirks. You don’t have to be a fabulous salesperson or particularly great at public speaking. Just talk about what you like about the bunny, and you’ll find that he sells himself.

Begin this socialization process with gentle petting from the top of the head, or you might try putting your head down close to the bunny in the cage. A person’s nose sometimes seems to be less intrusive to a caged rabbit than fingers. When you and the bunny are nose-to-nose, you can just “hang out” or talk softly to him.

After that first weeklong adjustment period, as he begins to run around, you will be able to observe his characteristics. You will need to experiment with lifting and handling. They all have sensitive areas. Find out, through firm but gentle experimenting, what he likes and doesn’t like, where to pet him, and what annoys him. Learning all these traits will make it easier for you to make a good match with an adopting family.

Some bunnies need more socializing than others. One advantage of fostering both not-yet-adoptable and adoptable rabbits is that the unsocialized ones get used to strangers who come to meet the other rabbits. Rabbits are often mislabeled at the shelter, so through fostering, you will become the best judge of the rabbit’s sociability. What is considered a “hard to place” animal can be viewed entirely differently by a person who appreciates a bold or willful bunny or has sympathy for a timid one.

After you know your foster rabbit, you can describe him in appealing but honest ways to people who show interest in him. Many first-time adopters are looking for particular physical characteristics, and chances are that your bunny won’t be exactly what the person has in mind. Unless there’s a very strong preference, you may be able to generate interest in him by telling the prospective adopter about all your rabbit’s wonderful traits and quirks. You don’t have to be a fabulous salesperson or particularly great at public speaking. Just talk about what you like about the bunny, and you’ll find that he sells himself.

Be completely straightforward about your bunny’s good points and bad points. The adopter may be surprised to hear that something they would assume is a negative is actually a positive (for instance, older bunnies are often easier to housetrain). Also, size

QUICK FACTS ABOUT FOSTERING

- Fosterers must be members of the National HRS, as well as the local chapter.
- Most fosterers do have rabbits of their own. Foster rabbits can be kept in a different room or part of the house than the “resident” rabbits, but they must be allowed significant out-of-cage time (at least 30 hours per week) and treated with the same care and love as the home’s other rabbits.
- All new HRS fosterers are required to start off with just one foster rabbit. Fosterers are never required to take another rabbit after a foster has been adopted; you can stop fostering (or take a break) at any time.
- The SHRS will pay for spay/neuter costs and 50% of all other veterinary costs for the foster rabbit (in most cases, there are none).
- Startup expenses may include a cage (although loaner cages may be available from other HRS fosterers), food/water crocks, toys and a litter box for the rabbit. Ongoing out-of-pocket expenses are generally limited to food, hay, and litterbox material. For a foster home with one rabbit, this adds up to less than $10 per week.
- HRS fosterers are asked to bring their foster rabbits to the monthly Adoption Day (a four-hour time commitment on a Saturday). Fosterers are not required to attend any other regular meetings or events.
- HRS fosterers can be added to the HRS volunteer e-mail list, which provides a forum to ask questions and seek advice from other fosterers.
- The HRS fosterer always gets the final say in whether an interested party adopts his or her rabbit.
- The HRS foster program is a wonderful way to network with other rabbit-lovers and make a variety of new friends. Our fosterers are single and married, male and female, retired and college-age.
makes no difference in manageability. Individual personalities alone determine whether or not a rabbit is easygoing or feisty. If there’s a physical defect, tell them about it and how it should be treated (many rabbits are adopted from us in spite of health problems).

Sometimes a fosterer will have a specific bunny for only a few weeks before he is adopted out; sometimes the rabbit is in foster care for much longer. Almost all of our bunnies are adopted out eventually, and yes, although it’s hard to part with them when they go, there’s nothing better than the feeling of knowing you helped to save a life and make a match that is beneficial for both the rabbit and his or her new family. There are very few “perfect” animals in the world, and adopters don’t always expect to get a perfect rabbit from you. However, as you foster and get to know the personality unique to any bunny, you will find that even his imperfections are part of what make him so special and so adoptable.

— Excerpted, in large part, from the HRS Fostering Manual

Recent Adoptions

Quigley was adopted by Matt Rush as a companion for his bunny.
Lotto (now Daz) was adopted by Noah Buxton.
Younger was adopted by the Strode family.
Thunder was adopted by the Lewis family.
Suzette was adopted by the Eggerton family as a companion to Blueberry.
Jezebel was adopted by the Rattanavong family.
Emma was adopted by Dionna Wangan

Henri and Sabine* are a pair of bonded grey angoras. Henri likes to cuddle; Sabine is more independent. They would like a family who would enjoy brushing their long, soft coats.

Alexander* is a sweet Angora with cotton-candy soft fur; however his coat is high maintenance. He needs a home with a family who will love to spend time with him.

* Henri, Sabine, and Alexander are currently living at the HRS center in Richmond so please call the hotline ahead of time to make arrangements for them to visit Sacramento.
This has been a busy summer for Sacramento House Rabbit Society volunteers, who are working on multiple projects and outreach efforts to increase the number of bunny adoptions. Here are some recent highlights from our chapter:

- In May, the HRS staffed a booth at the grand opening of the Sacramento SPCA’s new wing, which includes a room especially for the rabbits and small animals. (If you haven’t seen the new facility, stop by to admire it! It’s truly wonderful.)

- Our tireless volunteers Susan King and Margaret Batternman have been putting in long hours working with the Yolo County Animal Services Shelter in Woodland, which, until recently, had very few resources for rabbit care. Because the shelter has been so overloaded, the HRS worked with them to plan a special on-site adoption day on August 17. Six rabbits, including two bonded pairs, were adopted out. Six more still need homes. Please call our hotline if you would like more information or if you’d like to volunteer to help out at the shelter.
• Kimberly Wheatfill served as the HRS’s liaison with the El Dorado Shelter when they had a large-scale rabbit rescue situation earlier this year. Kimberly arranged for on-site adoptions and coordinated with our volunteers to donate supplies and labor to the shelter. Within a month and a half or so, all the bunnies were either adopted or transferred out of the shelter. Kudos to Kimberly, and to everyone else who helped out, for saving so many lives!

• Sharon Lowrey and Barbara Koenigmark staffed a booth at a Saturday open house held by All Our Pets, a veterinary clinic in East Sacramento. Dr. Julia Larson, one of the vets at this clinic, has recently been added to our recommended vet list. Thanks to Dr. Larson for the invitation to participate in the open house!

• Barbara continues her weekly visits to Mercy-McMahon Terrace. She and her bunny visit the seniors once a month to brighten their days. Barbara and several other volunteers are also giving “bunny lectures” at the Sacramento SPCA’s “Camp Kindness” for kids ages 9-11.

• The SHRS has updated its list of rabbit-savvy veterinarians in the Sacramento area. Call our hotline at 863-9690 to request a copy, or access it online at www.allearssac.org/sacvets.html. If you know of a good bunny vet who is not on the list, let us know!

• Jan Gasber is teaching two courses on rabbit care for the employees at Placer SPCA, to help them better care for the bunnies who come into the shelter.

• Brandon Chee, our webmaster, reports that our web site (www.allearssac.org), is seeing more traffic than ever! We average almost 160 “hits” per day, and the average visitor stays about 5 minutes to peruse the site. Site visitors are from all over the world, including Australia, Singapore, France, Mexico and Israel.

• And finally, we’ll have a booth at PetExpo, held at Cal Expo on Sept. 20, 21 and 22. Please come by and visit us, or e-mail April Galligan (emaspetite@yahoo.com) if you’d like to volunteer.

Max and Mollie, (far left) were adopted from Yolo County Animal Services on August 17, along with four other lucky bunnies. Notch (middle) and Cinnabun (right) are still waiting to be adopted.
Bear checks in on his bunny companion, Peanut.

Bear’s Bunnies: The Dog Who Loves Rabbits

I want to tell you the story of two animals, which by nature are predator and prey. When I had first brought my dog Bear home as a puppy, he was only eight pounds, which was approximately the same size as my bunny, Skipper. Skipper came over to examine the new arrival; however, Bear was so shy, he hid his head so the bunny couldn’t “see” him. It was not long before Skipper became the self-appointed alpha animal in the house. Bear just kept getting larger by the week and at maturity weighed in at 80 pounds, but that never stopped Skipper from asserting himself. When Bear got on Skipper’s nerves, Skipper would simply stand on his hind legs, growl, and start “boxing” at Bear’s face.

They were the best of friends and when I would get home from work, I would find Bear lying with his body against Skipper’s cage while Skipper was lying up against the inside of his cage so that the two were touching.

Skipper passed away at nine years of age, six years after I had first brought home Bear. Bear mourned the death of his buddy for quite some time, and three years after Skipper’s death, it was time to let Bear choose another companion rabbit.

I brought Bear to the House Rabbit Society’s adoption day. There were several rabbits to choose from, and there was one mini-lop that caught our attention. I got in the pen with the bunny while Bear watched from outside the pen. Bear and the bunny seemed curious about each other. When they sniffed noses, Bear would wag his tail. The two seemed like a good match so I adopted the bunny, Peanut.

When I brought Peanut home, he and Bear made friends with each other very quickly. Bear goes up to Peanut and licks his head and ears (which makes for some pretty crazy hairdo’s) while Peanut just lies there. Occasionally, when Peanut gets into mischief, Bear will go over to him and discourage his mischievous behavior by sticking his nose down between Peanut and whatever Peanut is digging at or chewing. And sometimes when Peanut is running through the house, he runs right up to Bear’s face and comes to a screeching halt. It is so amusing to watch the two interact. They are the best of friends.

— Linda Balestreri
Upcoming Events

Pet Expo
September 20, 21, 22
Cal Expo, 1600 Exposition Boulevard, Sacramento, CA 95815
This wonderful event showcases all kinds of animals, from dogs and cats to iguanas and pigs. The SHRS booth will feature free information and premiums for sale, and our volunteers will be on the lecture circuit, giving talks about bunny behavior and care. Stop by and see us!

Adoption and Information Clinics
Are you thinking about adding a bunny to your household? Or are you just looking to learn more about the one you’ve already got? Regardless of whether you’ve had a rabbit for years or if you’re new to the joys of rabbit companionship, you’ll have a great time at our monthly Adoption and Information Clinics. Come ask us questions about bunny behavior, care, grooming, nutrition, or anything else you can think of. We have free printed information on a variety of topics, and, of course, we also have our fabulous fosters on hand, waiting for just the right family to come along! The adoption donation is $50 ($75 for two), and includes a copy of The House Rabbit Handbook.

If you already have a bunny, you’re welcome to bring him or her to the Clinic in a secure carrier. Our experienced “rabbit wranglers” can trim your rabbit’s nails for a $5 donation. We also detangle matted bunny fur. If your rabbit has stubborn knots that you just can’t get out, call our bunny line in advance (916-863-9690) and make arrangements to bring him to the Clinic for a makeover. We have clippers, combs, and lots of patience. Donations of $10 per hour are appreciated!

August 31
10:00 am – 2:00 pm
Fair Oaks PetCo
8840 Madison Avenue

September 14
10:00 am – 2:00 pm
Citrus Heights PetCo
6067 Greenback Lane

September 28
10:00 am – 2:00 pm
Fair Oaks PetCo
8840 Madison Avenue

October 12
10:00 am – 2:00 pm
Roseville PetCo
1917 Douglas Boulevard

SHRS Goodies
Our popular SHRS t-shirts, featuring delightful illustrations by SHRS member Shannon Hawkins (see below), are still available for purchase. Sizes available are L in natural and M, L, XL in navy. $15

Back by popular demand is the “Everything I Need to Know” poster, featuring local rabbits. 12 x 36 inches, $12.

Also available is the “Kids-n-Bunnies” coloring book, full of information about house rabbit care and fun pages to color. $2 plus $1.50 shipping and handling per coloring book*. Come by our monthly clinics to see these items in person, or use this form to order by mail.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ITEM</th>
<th>COLOR</th>
<th>SIZE</th>
<th>QUANTITY</th>
<th>TOTAL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ITEM</th>
<th>COLOR</th>
<th>SIZE</th>
<th>QUANTITY</th>
<th>TOTAL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ITEM</th>
<th>COLOR</th>
<th>SIZE</th>
<th>QUANTITY</th>
<th>TOTAL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ITEM</th>
<th>COLOR</th>
<th>SIZE</th>
<th>QUANTITY</th>
<th>TOTAL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ITEM</th>
<th>COLOR</th>
<th>SIZE</th>
<th>QUANTITY</th>
<th>TOTAL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ITEM</th>
<th>COLOR</th>
<th>SIZE</th>
<th>QUANTITY</th>
<th>TOTAL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ITEM</th>
<th>COLOR</th>
<th>SIZE</th>
<th>QUANTITY</th>
<th>TOTAL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ITEM</th>
<th>COLOR</th>
<th>SIZE</th>
<th>QUANTITY</th>
<th>TOTAL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ITEM</th>
<th>COLOR</th>
<th>SIZE</th>
<th>QUANTITY</th>
<th>TOTAL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Please mail completed form with check or money order (payable to Sacramento House Rabbit Society) to:
Sacramento House Rabbit Society, P.O. Box 19850, Sacramento, CA 95819-0850

*SAVE on shipping & handling charges when buying in quantity! 1-3 items ordered is $4.00 s&h 4-6 items ordered is $8.00 s&h, etc. if ordering only coloring books, shipping & handling is $1.50 per book.

allow 2-3 weeks for delivery

New Mailing Address
The SHRS has a new mailing address:
Sacramento House Rabbit Society
PO Box 19850
Sacramento, CA  95819-0850

Our old mailing address will still be valid for a few more months.
Keep in Touch!

Time to renew your membership? New to the House Rabbit Society? The annual membership to the House Rabbit Society is $18. This includes a subscription to the quarterly House Rabbit Journal. The annual membership fee for the Sacramento Chapter, which includes the quarterly All Ears in Sacramento, is $15. The House Rabbit Society is an all-volunteer, non-profit organization. All membership fees are tax-deductible and go towards care expenses for the rabbits and for providing educational materials, such as these newsletters.

- Please sign me up for the National Membership, $18
- Please sign me up for the Sacramento Membership, $15
- Please sign me up for both for $30
- I have enclosed an additional donation of $___________
- I would like to volunteer with SHRS (see choices to the right)

Name:

______________________________

Phone:

______________________________

Address:

______________________________

email address:

______________________________

Return with check payable to House Rabbit Society to:
Sacramento House Rabbit Society, P.O. Box 19850, Sacramento, CA 95819-0850

Volunteer!

Would you like to help local rabbits and bunny-lovers? We could use volunteers in the following areas:

- Public Events (staffing education tables)
- Fundraising Events
- Distributing Literature
- Working with Shelters
- Transporting rabbits to the National Headquarters in Richmond
- Fostering